In the Classroom

BFA students are required to take Animation Production Studio and produce their own animated thesis film as a solo project. This is similar in scope to the team project except you'll have three full semesters to complete it. You'll work as the producer, director, editor, and every other role in between.

Outside the Classroom

Want a glimpse of industry life? Animation Studios in LA is a one-credit, single week, January-session course for selected senior Animation students. You'll spend the mornings learning professional standards and industry preparation and the afternoons touring local animation studios such as Nickelodeon, Warner Bros., DreamWorks, Cartoon Network, and Disney.

Alumni Success

- Andrew Huebner '98 is vice president of animation production at Nickelodeon. Huebner is a Daytime Emmy Award-winning producer and production manager on animated TV shows such as Kung Fu Panda: Legends of Awesomeness, Penguins of Madagascar, and Avatar: The Last Airbender.
- Allison Morse '15 is a design coordinator at ShadowMachine, an award-winning animation hub that is home to shows like BoJack Horseman and Robot Chicken.
- Daniel López Muñoz '96 served as the art director for Pixar's Up and has character artist credits on major films like Coco, Finding Dory, and Brave.
- Rachael Russakoff '12 is an animatic editor for Nickelodeon Animation Studio.

In order to be considered for admission to the Bachelor of Fine Arts (BFA), all applicants following this guide are required to earn an overall 3.0 in their major courses as well as apply for the fall semester by the deadline posted at colum.edu/bfa. Students applying after the posted deadline and/or do not have a cumulative 3.0 in major courses will be considered for the Bachelor of Arts (BA) and should work with their department to discuss BFA eligibility. Contact transfer@colum.edu with any questions.

Columbia College Chicago participates in the Illinois Articulation Initiative (IAI). Students who complete the AAS degree prior to transferring to Columbia College Chicago have the choice of completing the IAI General Education Core Curriculum (GECC) at Columbia or the Columbia Core Curriculum. Students will work with their Columbia advisor on the best course of action. Additionally, all degree-seeking Columbia students are required to complete 9 credit hours of 200-level (or higher) coursework, Columbia Experience courses as indicated, as well as at least two courses (6 credit hours) with a Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (DEI) designation to meet graduation requirements.
